According to a statement recently made by Mrs. Clara W. Raynor, president of the Florida Federation of Women's clubs, the new child labor law of that State, forbidding the employment of children under the age of 12 years, has taken 5,000 children from the shops and factories and put them in the schools.

There is something about Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup that makes it different from others, as it causes a free yet gentle action of the bowels through which the cold is forced out of the system. At the same time it heals irritation and allays inflammation of the throat and lungs. It is pleasant to take. Contains no opiates nor narcotics. Sold by The J. F. Crow Drug Co.

Self-Explanatory.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 29, 1907.

Supt. W. B. Vinson, Jefferson, Texas.

Dear Sir: In answer to your letter of November 27, I desire to say that the newspaper reporters drew several inferences from the opinion of the Attorney General. As herebefore announced by this department, attendance upon a five-day institute for the full five days of seven hours each and faithful participation in the work thereof may be counted toward the extension of a teacher's certificate. Attendance upon a five-day institute for less than five days will not operate toward the extension of a teacher's certificate. The institute of seven hours, required to be held at some time during the first four months of the scholastic year, is the only institute now authorized by the law.

Yours respectfully,
 R. B. Cousins,
 State Superintendent.

HOUSTON'S BIG BLAZE.

Costly Conflagration Occurs In Business District.

Houston, Dec. 2.—A fire originating in the upper story of the building belonging to Frank Dunn, 1010 Congress avenue, leaped from the roof of the three-story building occupied on the ground floor by Sweeney & Frederick's jewelry store and upstairs by offices. It was almost completely gutted. The Dunn building is also a total loss.

From this building the flames swept into the next building, owned by Mrs. G. I. Seigling, and occupied by the G. I. Seigling Dry Goods company.

Next the fire spread across the alley into the roof of the Houston theater building, and owing to its height no water could be thrown to the burning portion. An immense crowd watched the fiery element eating its way down story by story of this large building.

The efforts of the firemen were directed toward saving the building located on the southwest corner of the block.

The fire, which started about 11:30 o'clock Sunday night, was under control at 2 o'clock Monday morning.

Burning embers large as hats were flying from the roof of the burning theater building and falling on surrounding property, although the conflagration was not expected to spread on this account, as most of the roofs are protected. The damage worked by the conflagration is estimated at about $400,000. The theater building, owned by Henry P. D. Wilson and Henry Prince, is valued at $120,000. Mr. Wilson stated that it was insured for about half its value. The stock of dry goods owned by the G. I. Seigling company, which is in bankruptcy, is valued at about $50,000 and carries insurance to an amount which could not be learned. The stock of jewelry owned by Fredericks & Sweeney was saved intact. Many law firms lost their libraries and the loss by dentists and physicians amounts to considerable. Almost every building burned was occupied above the ground floor by offices, and the effects of few of these were saved.

At 2:15 the falling walls of the theater building crushed the two adjacent buildings.

Everything was destroyed in the block bounded by Fannin and Main streets and by Preston and Congress avenues except the Leary building and the Fox building, both front on Main street. The destruction of the theater building was most spectacular. The lofty walls awayed after the building had been gutted and then tumbled with a mighty crash, which threw debris the length of the block.

THROAT CUT BY PATIENT.

Attendant of North Texas Insane Asylum Receives Terrible Wound.

Terrill, Tex., Dec. 2.—A. A. Boutis, in charge of the dining room of the insane asylum, was attacked by a Mexican patient Sunday afternoon and his throat cut by the patient in the dining room, and the weapon was a large knife used in slicing bread. The wound begins under the right ear and extends some inches. The wife of Mr. Boutis was in the room at the time, and is prostrated with grief. The wound Sunday night was thought fatal.

The man assaulted was reared in this county, is about twenty-six years of age and has been at the asylum for a number of years. The patient who committed the deed escaped from the institution several weeks ago, but came back of his own accord. The management of the institution had just been discussing the question of discharging him as cured.
